

SAAC's Next Step Forward

Nominations for SAAC Council Members.

The Council is expected to consist of 14 roles from various sectors related to aviation. Richard will be seeking input from the AAC and our membership to suggest individuals who would be an asset to the Council. Brian Andrus, AAC Secretary, will release a list of the sectors that will look to be represented. A nomination process will be established and candidates will be selected by the Chair. Within each of the sectors, a lead Council member will be appointed to represent the sector for Council meetings and SAAC activities.

SAAC will endeavour to create industry opportunities and economic development, and, as a focused aviation community, it will create a direct channel to the government including connections to the ministries of Transport, Economic Development, Trade and Tourism and Finance. The Council cannot develop or dictate policy for the Government. It is an independent body which represents our aviation and aerospace industries to provide stronger direction for Alberta's aviation future.

AAC has been actively engaged in working with Richard on this initiative and will be a key partner over the four years the SAAC is legislated to exist.

NavCanada

Nav Canada continues to share information to the aviation industry through virtual conferences and press releases. Nav Canada has circulated a memo which provides details about the fees and flight activity at the major airports. There is also a weekly email that details the industry issues regarding the COVID impact on the aviation industry.

Welcome New AAC Board Members

Kendra Kincade Overwhelmed by a decidedly challenging early life, Kendra discovered that the pathway to her own salvation lay in helping others find theirs. Her quest to make a difference in the lives of others included climbing Mt. Kilimanjaro to raise money for a local hospital and establishing her own non-profit organizations, Changing Stories and Elevate Aviation.

Kendra's career as an Air Traffic Controller opened up even more horizons. When she recognized the negligible female presence in the industry, she set out to remedy the situation. Now, an internationally acclaimed humanitarian and Honorary Colonel of the RCAF 417 Helicopter Squadron, Kendra is the award-winning Founder and Chair of Elevate Aviation.

Casinos Update

AGLC slot machines are available at the casinos for now. The tables are yet to open. Limited tables will be opened in Phase 3 but when has yet to be determined. Cancelled casinos will be rescheduled once the casinos are fully operational. This will cause a ripple effect to all subsequent casinos. Our casino was tentatively scheduled for first quarter of 2021 but it will likely be pushed back at least 6 to 12 months.

AAC DIRECTOR APPOINTED TO A UNIQUE ADVISORY GROUP

Kim van Vliet has been appointed to the NATO Industrial Advisory Group (NIAG).

The NATO Industrial Advisory Group (NIAG) is a high-level consultative and advisory body of senior industrialists of NATO member countries, acting under the Conference of National Armaments Directors (CNAD), with the aims of:

- Providing a forum for free exchange of views on industrial, technical, economic, management and other relevant aspects of research, development and production of armament equipment within the Alliance; based on current and updated information provided by relevant NATO bodies
- Providing industry's advice to the CNAD on how to foster government-to-industry and industry-to-industry armaments co-operation within the Alliance

- Providing optimal use of NIAG resources to assist Main Armaments Groups, and their subordinate bodies, in exploring opportunities for international collaboration, and seeking timely and efficient ways to satisfy NATO military requirements.

The NIAG provides a link to the NATO nations' defence industries through which the industrial viewpoint and industrial technology development could be included in the work of the NATO. The NIAG is composed of high-level industrial representatives of the member nations, each of them acting as a focal point and spokesperson for his/her national defence and security industries and associations.

NATO recognizes the need of a close involvement with the industry with particular focus on:

- Assisting the development of military capability requirements and the fielding of interoperable solutions.
- Fostering the Trans-Atlantic defence technological and industrial cooperation.
- Providing advice on the adoption of open source standards.

The NIAG provides a link to the NATO nations' defence industries through which the industrial viewpoint and industrial technology development could be included in the work of NATO. This provides an opportunity for Alberta and Canadian based companies to be a part of that solution by partnering with other companies from other allied nations.

Congratulations Kim on Your Appointment
